

Example Poem

You are the red in my juicy strawberries,

You are the blue in my clear sky,

You are the green in my summer time grass,

You are the brown in my hot chocolate,

You are the purple in my wizard's hat,

You are the yellow in my ripened banana,

You are the orange in my morning orange juice,

And together you make my rainbow.

Consider:

What do you notice about the poem?

How does the poem begin on each line?

What do you notice about the last line and use of punctuation?

How could this help the crayons?

TASK:

In your book write your own poem about the crayons

You could use same sentence opener e.g.

You

Thankyou

Sorry
